SAVE THE DATE

The Center for Strategic and International Studies in partnership with the Woodrow Wilson Center cordially invite you to a public event:

“Kenya: Assessing the Political and Humanitarian Crisis”

Wednesday, January 16, 2008

10:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

CSIS B1-B Conference Level

1800 K Street NW

Washington, D.C. 20006

with

Mark Bellamy, Visiting Fellow, CSIS Africa Program

Jennifer Cooke, Co-Director, CSIS Africa Program

David Throup, Senior Associate, CSIS

Burkard Oberle, Kenya Country Director, World Food Programme

and

Other Kenyan speakers to be announced!

With the political situation in Kenya at an impasse, persistent insecurity threatens to plunge the country into a deeper humanitarian and economic crisis. CSIS experts, along with colleagues from Kenya and the World Food Program, will discuss the political and humanitarian dimensions of the conflict in Kenya, as well as the diplomatic efforts being undertaken to consolidate peace.

This is a public event. Further details to follow. Please send RSVP to Africa@csis.org.
